

Dr. Barnard Says, 'I Don't Think We've Succeeded in Transplants Yet'

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Prof. Christiaan N. Barnard said Sunday: "I don't think that we've succeeded in transplantation of a (human) heart yet."

"To succeed one must be able to discharge your patient so that he can go home and live a fairly normal life. We haven't shown that we can do this yet."

Leading 30 scientists, the 44-year-old cardiac surgeon at Cape Town's Groote Schuur Hospital performed the world's first human heart transplant operation last Dec. 3. His patient, Louis Washkansky, 53, died 18 days later of pneumonia — the longest period man has lived with an alien heart.

Barnard's second patient, Philip Blaiberg, 58, is recovering from his Jan. 2 operation. Indications are he will be permitted to go home in two weeks.

time, barring complications. "I don't think we've succeeded yet," Barnard said in an interview broadcast by Radio South Africa Sunday night. "I think that we have only so far shown that the heart can be transplanted and that in the immediate postoperative period this transplanted heart will function well."

Barnard acknowledged there is still the danger of Blaiberg's body rejecting the new heart. "We've not really come to grips with this problem in that our patients have not lived long enough. As far as we know the danger period of rejection never passes away."

"The reason why we have hope for heart transplants is that we have certain reason to believe that hearts may not be rejected quite as viciously and strongly as kidneys are."

Barnard discounted the use of animal hearts for human transplants at this stage.

"We have no means to suppress the reaction of the human body to animal hearts. It will be rejected within a few hours."

Barnard indicated he had not selected his next transplant patient, adding he would first study the problems and difficulties Blaiberg's operation produced.

"We will take the first patient that comes along that's ill and needs a heart transplant, whether it is European (white) or Bantu (African) or colored (mulatto), it wouldn't matter," he replied when questioned whether the next patient would be an African.

Barnard was obviously referring to world reaction after the heart of a mulatto was transplanted into Blaiberg in highly race-conscious South Africa. The surgeon said any man in the South African street could afford the costly operation because it was paid for by the Cape Province administration. He added the cost of a heart transplant was probably cheaper than a kidney transplant because in the former less pre-operative care was necessary.

Barnard said he was training other cardiac specialists to perform the pioneer operation.

"There are surgeons I have today who are quite capable of transplanting a heart."

Asked whether he would offer himself as a donor if the occasion arose, Barnard said: "I feel if I have a motor car accident, I would be very glad if my family will agree that my heart is removed for transplantation."

Precipitation in almost every form—rain, snow and sleet—pelted Pennsylvania Sunday in the wake of a long-awaited break in the cold snap.

The constitutional convention marks a birthday of sorts—half of its legislatively mandated life span has been spent.

The pay and pension of today's Pennsylvania legislators ranks favorably with other states and is a far cry from the situation in the 1870's.

THE NATION

Surgeons removed Mike Kasperak's gall bladder Sunday in another emergency effort to help the critically ill heart transplant patient. The new heart was working well.

Congress starts its 1968 session at noon Monday, facing the same vexing problems—taxes, inflation, deficits and the Vietnam war—that haunted it through 1967.

Winter storms continue over much of the eastern third of the nation; roads are nearly impassable and power crews work to restore electricity in many areas.

Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield becomes the highest-placed administration figure to call for an end to the bombing of North Vietnam in an effort to seek peace.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government heads into a crisis week with huge spending cutbacks threatening the nation's alliances abroad and social programs at home.

Fighting erupts again along the Israeli-Jordanian cease-fire line. An Israeli army spokesman blames the Jordanians for starting the new fight.

Dr. Christiaan Barnard says heart transplanting won't be successful until a patient can "go home and live a fairly normal life."

SPORTS

John Chimenti of Warren has entered the Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament in Ashland, Ohio, slated for next Saturday. Trained by Karl Henninger, he will fight in the 125-pound class. Page 8.

The Youngsville Skiways held its first Trail Races of the season yesterday, with 31 skiers competing. Results on Page 7.

The toe of Don Chandler, the quarterbacking of Bart Starr and a tough defense carried the Green Bay Packers to a 33-14 triumph over the Oakland Raiders in the Super Bowl yesterday. Chandler booted four field goals and Starr engineered a ball-control game to give the Packers their second World Championship of pro football. Page 7.

An eye injury suffered by UCLA's Lew Alcindor in a game with California on Friday may affect the Bruins' chances against number two Houston this Saturday. Alcindor sat out Saturday night's contest against Stanford with blurred vision, but UCLA won its 46th in a row, 75-63. Fourth-ranked Kentucky was the only rated team to lose on Saturday, falling to Florida, 96-78. Page 7.

Mansfield Calls For Bomb Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield called Sunday for an end to the bombing of North Vietnam in an effort to persuade Hanoi to enter peace talks. He became the highest-placed administration figure to take such a public position.

The Montana Democrat, who has opposed a bombing pause in the past, said a New Year's weekend statement by the North Vietnamese foreign minister offered a possible sign of a change in Hanoi's stance on talks.

The foreign minister, Nguyen Duy Trinh, said his country "will hold talks with the United States" after "the bombing and all other acts of war" are halted.

Mansfield said that "now that the North Vietnamese have shifted from the use of the conditional 'could' to the positive 'will,'" the United States should stop its bombing raids on the Communist country.

Mansfield noted that President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had said the bombing would be halted if the North Vietnamese "would just give us one sign, one small indication" of a willingness to negotiate.

Vietnamese Draftee Dies Saving GIs from Grenade

SAIGON (AP) — A young Vietnamese infantryman clasped a Communist grenade to his chest and blew himself to pieces to save the lives of four American advisers sharing a bunker with him.

The blast Friday wounded three of the Americans, U.S. military sources reported, but the Vietnamese private is credited with saving the U.S. soldiers from certain death. 1st Lt. Thomas Morris, from Stamford, Conn., who was in the bunker, said the soldier was Do Van Tan, 22, an unmarried draftee from the highland city of Dalat.

The Communist grenade that Tan muffled with his body was one of two thrown into the bunker during a North Vietnamese ground attack on a battalion of the Vietnamese 22nd Division's 41st Regiment at Phu My district in coastal Binh Dinh Province.

The first grenade rolled inside the bunker and exploded behind one of the radios being used to call in air and artillery support.

The second grenade landed among the five men crouched in the darkness. Lt. Morris said the Vietnamese soldier shouted that he had seen the grenade. Then he picked it up, clasped it to his chest and fell to the ground.

The explosion tossed Tan's body across the bunker and shrapnel struck the Americans. The Vietnamese soldier was dead, but the Americans were able to continue calling air and artillery support and within an hour the final enemy attack was repulsed.

Tan had been working with the Americans for several weeks as a combination houseboy and aide. He lived in their compound at the battalion base and accompanied them on field operations.

U.S. officers with the 22nd Division said the Vietnamese private would be recommended for America's second highest medal for bravery, the Distinguished Service Cross. Normally the highest decoration for bravery given foreigners is the Silver Star.

The four American advisers in the bunker besides Lt. Morris were S. Sgt. Robert Harcum of Philadelphia, Pa., S. Sgt. George Deady of New York City, and Sgt. IC Ray Robson of Los Angeles.

Britain May Cancel Billion $ Order for American Bombers

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government was reported ready Sunday night to cancel a billion-dollar order for 50 American F111 bombers. But sources said Defense Secretary Denis Healey was still fighting to save the contract.

A tentative decision to drop the controversial swing-wing jets goes up for final cabinet approval Monday as part of an all-out economy drive to shore up the pound and restore British solvency.

It will be a critical week for Wilson's three-year Labor administration, which has suffered at the polls in recent months.

Winter Storms in East Slow Traffic, Affect Power

Snow, sleet and freezing rain storms continued unabated in much of the eastern third of the nation Sunday. The storms left thousands of homes without electricity, slowed highway traffic to a crawl and delayed some plane schedules.

Travelers' warnings were posted for portions of 11 states, from northern Alabama and Georgia to Ohio, New York and Connecticut.

Seventeen inches of new snow fell on parts of southeastern Ohio, with the storm continuing. An 11-inch fall brought the amount on the ground at Alpena, W. Va., to 33 inches. A section of Interstate 40 about 40 miles west of Nashville, Tenn., was covered with a thick sheet of ice and was impassable. Other roads in the state had patches of ice.

State police in Indiana said secondary roads in the southeast corner of the state were nearly impassable. All other roads were snow covered and slick.

Snow squalls delayed plane landings for from one half hour to an hour at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport. Only one runway was open to incoming planes.

Freezing rain downed trees and caused minor power failure at Erie, Pa., and it spread through western Pennsylvania during the night. Streets were sheathed with ice, and snow was expected later in the day.

Thousands of homes in eastern North Carolina—at Raleigh, Goldsboro, Dunn and Southern Pines—were without electricity. Many have been without heat or light since a severe ice storm hit the state Wednesday.

Mercury Rises in State But Rain, Sleet Play Havoc

The mercury rose above freezing for the first time in more than a week in most parts of Pennsylvania on Sunday, but the information was purely academic as gusting winds and freezing rain played havoc with roads, knocked down power lines and even lifted roofs in some areas.

The rain, caused by a combination of a low pressure area in Southern Ohio and another low moving northward out of Virginia, began in most areas shortly after midnight and still was continuing as late as 6 p.m.

An official total of 1.57 inches of rain had fallen in the Philadelphia area by 4 p.m.

Accompanying gusts of wind blew in a handful of show windows in downtown Reading and lifted the roofs off two rows of houses. Police also reported the roof blown off a suburban Reading warehouse.

Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. reported two minor power failures in the Allentown-Bethlehem area due to downed lines which were quickly restored.

But in Jonestown, Lebanon County, state police headquarters reported they had been without power since 2 a.m. Sunday.

"There's enough now to put a little glow in a light bulb, but that's all," a patrolman said at 5 p.m. The outage, he said, seemed to cover a 10-mile area around Jonestown in northern Lebanon.

State Police at Reading were handling radio calls for Jonestown.

In the Harrisburg area, part of suburban Camp Hill had a three-hour power failure.

U.S. Anticipates New Wave of Assaults In Viet's DMZ Area

SAIGON (AP) — Air Force B52 bombers, trying to beat the enemy to the punch in the north-west corner of South Vietnam, twice Monday bombed Communist camps below the demilitarized zone.

It appeared that the strato-fortresses were opening a campaign to blast enemy concentrations before the Communists could mount an offensive against the tightly stretched allied positions guarding the northern frontier.

There already were signs of enemy activity in the recently dormant DMZ sector. American Green Beret troopers detected North Vietnamese units moving south of the zone Sunday after 19 U.S. Marines were killed and 70 wounded in an ambush in the same general area.

U.S. commanders speculate that the Communists may be planning a new wave of assaults after the monsoon weather ends in early spring. Intelligence reports say a North Vietnamese army division is poised along the demilitarized zone.

The U.S. Command said one of Monday's B52 raids was 12 miles northwest of Khe Sanh and the second 14 miles north-west of that Marine outpost 20 miles below the DMZ.

The Green Berets spotted the North Vietnamese troops crossing a river Sunday five miles southwest of Khe Sanh. A U.S. spokesman said 10 Reds were killed and one American wounded in the ensuing fight.

It was the first time in weeks that North Vietnamese troops were seen on the move in that area.

Elsewhere, ground action was light. U.S. infantrymen found an enemy cache of 20,600 pounds of rice 34 miles north of Saigon. The rice, in 100-pound bags, will be distributed among needy Vietnamese.

Poor weather limited the American air offensive over North Vietnam. Pilots reported hitting a variety of transportation and storage targets.

The ambush of U.S. Marines was on Highway 9, which links Marine supply lines to outposts along the DMZ from the coast to the Laotian border.

Jordanian-Israeli Forces Exchange Mortar Fire

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Fighting erupted again in the Beisan Valley along the Israeli-Jordanian cease fire line Sunday, an Israeli army spokesman reported.

Mortar fire was exchanged but the Israelis suffered no casualties or damage, the spokesman said.

He blamed the Jordanians for starting the new fight—second in two days and the third in a week in the area — by lobbing mortar shells into the Israeli border settlement of Beit Youssef south of the Sea of Galilee.

Jordanian and Israeli forces fought two hour long machine gun duels Saturday. Last Monday Israeli jets screamed across the cease fire line to silence Jordanian artillery after a long gun duel in the valley.

The Israeli army also reported another outbreak of Arab sabotage against Israeli installations. It said the saboteurs opened a midnight mortar attack on the Red Sea port of Elath but the shells landed harmlessly in the desert sand on the outskirts of the city.

A dispatch from Damascus said Assifa, the military arm of the Fateh Palestinian guerrilla organization, claimed 22 Israeli casualties in six raids against Israeli targets Jan. 6, 8.

Passenger Train Is Derailed

ROCKMART, Ga. (AP) — A Southern Railway passenger train derailed between Rockmart and Dallas, Ga., Sunday night, but apparently there were no serious injuries.

The entire train, consisting of two engines, a baggage car and one coach with 40 passengers, left the tracks at 6:55 p.m., said W. W. Matthews, chief clerk for Southern Railway.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene, the Catoosa County sheriff's office said. They were turned back when no serious injuries were reported, according to Matthews.

The train had left Atlanta about an hour before and was bound for Cincinnati, Ohio, Matthews said. The accident occurred about eight miles north of Rockmart in northeastern Georgia, officials said.

Congress Starts New Session, Faces Same Old Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress starts its 1968 session at noon Monday, facing the same vexing problems—taxes, inflation, deficits and the Vietnam war—that haunted it through 1967.

Adding heat to the cauldron of controversy is the fact that this is an election year. A little more than the normal politics as usual will enter into consideration of bills likely to be issues in political campaigns.

This will be especially true in the House, where all 435 seats will be at stake in November. Only 34 of the 100 Senate seats will be on the line, but several Senators are available for higher things, such as a presidential or a vice presidential nomination.

The House starts the year with 245 Democrats, 187 Republicans and 3 Democratic vacancies. The Senate opens with 64 Democrats and 36 Republicans. Republicans are optimistic over their chances of picking up the 31 seats needed for control of the 1969 House. It would take a landslide to give them the 15 extra Senate seats needed for control of that body.

No major legislation is likely to be considered during the first month of the session, although some bills left over from 1967 are ready for debate.

The lawmakers will wait for three major presidential messages before settling down to business. These messages will be in the way of legislation and appropriations and will outline the economic state of the government.

The first, the annual State-of-the-Union message, is scheduled for delivery to a joint session Wednesday night. Two others, the budget message and the economic report, are to reach Congress late this month. Others will follow as the session progresses.

There has been no official disclosure of what President Johnson will ask Congress to do. But unofficial reports are that he will renew his requests for a tax increase, gun-control legislation, an anti-crime bill, continuation of the war on poverty and other "Great Society" programs, additional aid for education and health, consumer protection and a head tax on Americans traveling to certain designated foreign countries.

Because of the government's tight financial condition—a deficit of around $20 billion in sight this year—the President is not expected to request any new major costly domestic programs.

His budget reportedly will call for federal spending of close to $200 billion during the fiscal year starting July 1, of which an estimated $77 billion would be for the Defense Department.

The House Ways and Means Committee refused to consider the proposal last year because it didn't think the President was doing enough budget-cutting. The committee has decided to reconsider its earlier decision and will take another look at tax legislation later this month.

Heart Patient Undergoes Operation, Still Critical

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Surgeons removed Mike Kasperak's gall bladder Sunday in another emergency effort to help the critically ill heart transplant patient. The new heart was working well.

A week ago Saturday night, the Stanford University Medical Center team took out the 54-year-old dying man's diseased heart and implanted a new one taken from the body of a 43-year-old woman. It was the fourth transplantation of a human heart ever made.

"His transplanted heart continues to beat normally," a spokesman said after Kasperak's gall bladder operation.

Doctors said they believed earlier bleeding from the stomach and intestines caused the gall bladder difficulty. They drained it of fluid Saturday night.

During the one-hour operation Sunday, in addition to removing the bladder, the surgeons drained and cleared the common duct, a tube leading from the liver to the intestine. They also found some necrosis (death of cells) of the liver.

"We believe we have the necrosis stopped, and the extent of its area is not believed too severe," doctors said. They added that Kasperak's liver function was believed "not seriously compromised." They didn't explain the nature of the liver difficulty.

The Sunday morning bulletin said, "His heart is in excellent condition with normal blood pressure and cardiac function this morning."

It said Kasperak received a large blood exchange transfusion Saturday (equal to 80 per cent of his total blood volume) to remove impurities, and a slight improvement of his jaundiced condition was noted.

Dr. Roy Cohn said a local anesthetic was used in the gall bladder operation and that Kasperak's liver function would have failed completely without the operation.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. — City council will meet at 7 p.m. Monday to take final action on a record high 1968 budget. The new budget is expected to total between $11.5 and $12-million mandating a raise in the city tax rate of $13 to $16 per thousand dollars assessed valuation. The city council has conducted more than 25 budget sessions since mid November and managed to cut approximately $1-million from the original spending program. Former Mayor Fred H. Dunn did not submit an executive budget after Mayor Charles B. Magnuson agreed that his administration should prepare its own budget. The original $12.8-million request

Pa. Legislators' Pay Ranks High Among States

By The Associated Press
HARRISBURG (AP) — The pay and pension of today's Pennsylvania legislators ranks favorably with other states and is a far cry from the situation in the 1870s.

The rank-and-file legislator in this state gets $12,000 a year. The Committee for Economic Development says this puts Pennsylvania fourth among the other states.

In 1874, they were paid $1,000 each biennium with $10 daily for each day beyond 100.

In recent years, the law makers have voted themselves pay increases and or pension improvements every two or three years.

Since 1959, the legislators have altered their salary, expense or retirement scales no less than four times.

Their latest attempt, however, stirred criticism across the state and brought down a gubernatorial veto.

On Dec. 21, the last day of the 1967 session, the legislature sent Gov. Shafer a bill to adjust the legislative pension base to coincide with a $1,200 salary increase enacted two years earlier.

Shafer vetoed the bill because it contained no limit on the amount of pension available to veteran members of the leadership ranks.

The governor did, however, sign a companion bill providing across-the-board salary increases ranging from 10 to 15 per cent for legislative employees, coupled with additional salaries for the 18 leadership positions in the General Assembly.

Under the act, effective immediately, the four majority and minority floor leaders received an additional $8,500 a year to top the $7,200 salary and $4,800 expense allotment accorded to the rank-and-file membership.

The four assistant floor leaders were given an extra $4,000 apiece; the caucus chairmen, $3,500; and the caucus secretaries, $2,500.

The Speaker of the House and the Senate President Pro Tempore, previously the only two officers to receive additional compensation, had their $9,000 extra salaries jumped to $10,500 for a total of $22,500 a year.

How do the lawmakers in other states make out?

New York pays $18,000 a year; California, $16,000; Michigan, $15,000. Illinois follows Pennsylvania with $9,000.

Surrounding states pay: Ohio, $8,000; New Jersey, $7,000; Maryland, with a 70-calendar-day limit on its sessions, $4,100; and Delaware, with a 90-legislative-day limit, $4,500.

In 1959, the General Assembly combined the legislators' $3,000 salary and $3,000 expense allotment into a straight $6,000 salary.

In 1961, the lawmakers voted an additional $3,000 expense account for themselves, plus jumping the bonus salary for the speaker and pro tem from $1,000 to $9,000.

In 1965, they increased their salaries to $7,200 and their expense allotments to $4,800.

The state retirement system was opened to the lawmakers in 1946. They do not have to join.

In 1956, the legislators reduced their retirement age from 60 to 50 and the term of service for partial benefits from 25 years to 10 years.

They also increased their maximum pension from $1,500 to an amount which would be determined primarily by length of service.

They also increased their rate of contribution above the regular rate, which, in turn, enabled them to collect higher benefits.

In 1961, they increased their contribution rate by 50 per cent, but limited the maximum annual pension to their final average salary.

In 1965, the contribution rate was again increased by 50 per cent, but an attempt to permit unlimited pensions was dropped at the objection of former Gov. William W. Scranton.

It took quite a while for the legislators, salary to reach its present level.

After 1874, their pay was made a flat $1,500 in 1885 and was jumped to $2,500 in 1919 and $3,000 in 1927.

The only cut came in the depression year of 1933 when the salary was trimmed to $2,500. It was raised back to $3,000 in 1937.

In 1947, the lawmakers provided themselves with a $2,400 clerical assistance allotment, and increased that to $3,000 in 1951.

Constitutional Convention Marks A Birthday of Sorts

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's Constitutional Convention marks a birthday of sorts Monday: half of its legislatively mandated life-span has been spent.

The convention opened last Dec. 1 and, by law, its work must be completed by Feb. 29.

When the delegates return to Harrisburg Monday they will take up the task of sorting through 210 specific proposals for updating the state's 93-year-old Constitution.

Even though the deadline for the submission of proposals has passed, delegates can continue to offer suggestions from the floor if a majority — 82 delegates — vote to suspend the rules.

However, the emphasis was expected to shift now from the convention floor to committee meeting rooms where standing panels on Local Government, Legislative Apportionment, Taxation and State Finance and the judiciary will pick and choose from the proposals before them.

The committees have until Feb. 2 to complete their deliberations and report reform packages to the floor for debate and action.

Some committee leaders already have announced plans to report out packages well ahead of the deadline.

The committees on Taxation and State Finance and Local Government planned to meet Monday to take final votes on reform packages recommended by subcommittees.

Delegates Robert L. Leonard of Philadelphia and Carlson T. Woodring of Easton, co-chairmen of the Committee on Taxation and State Finance, said their recommendations on tax exemptions could be ready for floor action as early as Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the full convention was scheduled to debate and vote on an appeal by delegate Ralph E. Orbin Sr. of Youngwood against a ruling that rejected his proposal designed to prohibit the raising or levying of taxes for any program entailing certain types of discrimination.

Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick, convention president, had rejected Orbin's proposal on the ground that it covered a matter outside of the convention's limited jurisdiction.

To date, Broderick has rejected 17 proposals for that reason. Although several appeals have been filed, none of the decisions has been overruled.

There also was a possibility that Allegheny County delegates Henry P. Otto and Richard L. Huggins would seek to re-introduce a proposal designed to abolish the state Milk Control Commission.

Otto and Huggins withdrew a

Two Mishaps Are Reported Over Weekend

Accidents in Warren County were at a minimum over the weekend despite slippery conditions on most roads. State police reported two mishaps.

Velgot Mortenson, 77, R.D. 2, Kane, driving a truck, slid off the road and crashed into a parked car on Rt. 27 seven miles south of Grand Valley Sunday, troopers reported. The parked car was in the care of a Mrs. Reuben Anthony.

Two cars westbound on Rt. 6 collided Saturday afternoon when Elizabeth Dechere, 55, R.D. 1, Clarendon, pulled into the center lane to make a left turn and was struck by a car driven by Roy James English, 62½ Buffalo st., Franklin.

Lt. Gov. Braves Weather To Preview Farm Show

HARRISBURG (AP) — Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick braved icy weather and an over-protective cow Sunday to preview the 52nd annual Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Standing in for Gov. Shafer, who is vacationing in the Caribbean, Broderick made a 90-minute tour of the giant agricultural exposition on the eve of its official opening.

Some 3,500 special guests, including government officials and exhibitors, attended the preview. More than 7,500 had been invited, but icy road conditions brought on by an overnight freezing rain kept most people in their homes.

Broderick's encounter with the cow came when photographers tried to get his picture with the animal's newborn calf. The calf, only 12 hours old, bawled and the cow made menacing moves toward the lieutenant governor.

The cow's owner, George Ungemach, 16, of Annville R.D. 1, took firm hold of his charge and the picture was snapped. The calf, a Brown Swiss, was the first born at this year's show. Broderick, accompanied by his attractive wife Majorie, set a brisk pace as he inspected the 14 acres of indoor exhibits. He made frequent stops, however, and expressed a keen interest in many of the products on display.

Leland H. Bull, state secretary of agriculture, was on hand to answer the lieutenant governor's many questions. Broderick admitted he was a city boy (He's from Philadelphia), but he told newsmen he spent five summers on a farm during his youth.

See him now!

Pa. Gets Tough With Cigarette Smugglers

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Attorney General's Office is instituting a "get tough" policy with cigarette smugglers.

Anyone caught smuggling smokes into Pennsylvania will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett cautioned over the weekend.

Pennsylvania law provides a $25 per carton fine, after the first carton, for anyone caught smuggling cigarettes without a state tax stamp into the Commonwealth.

Failure to pay the fine results in a one-day jail sentence for each dollar involved.

The Pennsylvania cigarette tax was increased from 8 to 13 cents by the 1967 General Assembly.

There is a bill pending in the legislature to permit state authorities to confiscate automobiles found to be carrying untaxed cigarettes into the state.

Tripod of Liberty

As business comes more and more under the thumb of boards, commissions and official dictation, it is progressively restricted in its freedom of management. A Nevada editor feels that some of the modern generation of supervisors of "free enterprise" are to blame for not resisting with more determination the encroachments of government controls.

Among the staunchest supporters of free enterprise and the competitive market are some 11,000 country weekly, smaller city daily, and suburban newspapers in the 50 states. Fortunately, the most progressive industries recognize that these newspapers are indispensable

Protection Against Home Fires

We have now entered the peak season for home fires and home fire losses. Although the final figures aren't yet in for 1967, the informed estimate is that U.S. losses in fires of all types soared from $1.5 billion in 1966 into the $1.7 billion range last year, and the number of lives lost in fires almost surely topped 1966's horrifying 558,100.

The statistics alone shout to you to review now the fire prevention measures you are taking in your home. What's more, the fact that building costs again are surging upward throughout the nation suggests that for millions of homeowners, fire insurance coverage has become grossly inadequate.

Porter

What can you do to prevent fire in your home is implicit in the top causes of home fires. The biggest single factor, says the National Fire Protection Association in Boston, is defective or improperly operated heating equipment, including chimneys as well as furnaces. Other major causes are smoking and matches; misuse of, or faulty, electricity; mishandling of flammable fluids; accidents with cooking equipment; natural gas leaks.

According to the NFPA, U.S. home fires could be slashed in

End of the Public Schools

There is in the air a sense of great excitement among American conservatives who have reason to believe that their time is coming. In the past few years a number of ideas developed in the garrets of conservative scribblers and roundly dismissed as radical and irrelevant have suddenly begun to appear in the best political shopwindows. Four years ago they laughed themselves at Barry Goldwater's proposal that they sell the TV. Now the Democratic Postmaster General proposes selling the Post Office (to a public corporation).

Twenty years ago, Lord Keynes's fiscal policies were written into the economics textbooks as holy writ; and now the monetary policies of Milton Friedman are beginning to displace the obsession with fiscal policy. There are other examples, the sudden perception of the metaphysical limitations of government action, the slow understanding of the derivative limitations of poverty and urban renewal programs. But the most exciting of the lot is the emergence from the fever-swamps of the idea of private schools—in preference to public schools.

Seventeen years ago, Mr. James Conant, then President of Harvard University, delivered a speech in which he called for the formal abolition of the private schools. Formal because in any case the private schools had diminished to a mere 5 per cent of the whole. But Mr. Conant's brief against them was that they were "divisive," his reasoning, which I do believe that he would at this point gracefully repudiate, being that all Americans should have a shared experience, and that the place to have that, is at school.

Now the private schools are proliferating. It is generally supposed that the reason why the racist prejudices of so many white people. That answer is superficial. The reason why is because an increasing number of parents believe that their children can be better educated in private schools, removed from the political pressures of overwrought communities which are at least as much concerned with making agreeable politics as with producing literate children; and because there is increasing dissatisfaction, among rich and poor, among white and black, with the whole idea of a central school authority specifying textbooks, curricula, standards, and the rest of it—a dissatisfaction mirrored in the Bundy Report presented to Mayor Lindsay of New York a couple of months ago, calling for virtually autonomous school districts.

No one now doubts that what maintains the majority of American students in the public schools in the major cities is economic pressure. Let us admit that if the state were to give each child a voucher, on the order of what is given to veterans under the G.I. Bill of Rights, cashable for sum X at any accredited school, that there would be massive redeployments of children in all the major centers of the United States.

Once admit that such movements would occur, and the mind focuses on the coercive nature of existing arrangements. Libertarian philosophers have been interested in the question for years. But now it isn't merely a matter of the liberty of the parents to select their own schools: America isn't given to the pursuit of abstractionist freedoms at the expense of politically profitable egalitarian principles. It is the dawning realization champions of the free enterprise economy. Editors are well aware that without private enterprise with the need to advertise its good and services in order to sell them in a competitive market, there would be no free press. Its sources of support would be gone. We would have official publications—the emaculated mouthpieces of the party in power.

Let none of us forget the interdependence of a free press, private enterprise and individual freedom under representative government. They are the central supports which cradle the precious vessel of human liberty for which this nation was created.

Candidates Stay Home

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon Johnson, knowingly or unknowingly, may have dealt a blow to his Republican opposition when he indicated it would be very unpatriotic for any American to travel outside of the Western Hemisphere for the next two years.

It is part of the American political tradition that any candidate running for high public office must visit Ireland, Italy and Israel with stops in other parts of the world if he hopes to get elected.

Without these trips no politician can ever win the hearts of the American people.

It is interesting to note that President Johnson made his announcement about keeping Americans at home AFTER he completed his globe-trotting trip, and Republicans think it was no accident that the President saw the Pope BEFORE he told the American people that they shouldn't go abroad.

One Republican candidate, a favorite son, said, "Nixon, Romney and Percy must have known something, because they got their trips out of the way before the President made his dollar-deficit speech. But what chance have the rest of us got if we can't leave the country?"

"Does it mean that much?" "It certainly does. How would you feel if you had announced you were running for President and you'd never seen Dublin's fair city, where the girls are so pretty and you had not had your picture taken with sweet Molly Malone?"

"Just terrible," I admitted. "And what kind of leader do you think a man would make if he hadn't had an audience with Pope Paul, in private, of course?"

"An awful leader." "And how would you feel if you were asked to vote for a man who had never walked the streets of Tel Aviv or swum in the Dead Sea?"

"I'd say that man just does not have the qualifications for the highest office in the land." "Exactly. I had a great campaign all set," the candidate said. "I was going to go to Moscow and debate Kossygin in an American kitchen."

"Say, that would have been novel." "And I was going to go to India and have my picture taken in front of the Taj Mahal." "It would have made every paper's front page in the country."

"And finally, I was going to Vietnam to talk to our American boys." "They would have been glad to see you," I said, trying to comfort him.

"Who knows?" he said. "I might have been lucky and gotten shot at by the Viet Cong." "Even one hand grenade would have helped your campaign."

"I also was hoping to get brainwashed by Gen. Westmoreland." "He would have done it for you, too," I said.

"But now President Johnson has said that nobody can go abroad without contributing to the economic crisis, and without the trip I have absolutely no chance of getting the nomination."

"Are you saying that the President used the gold shortage as an excuse to keep you home?" "Why not? He knows he can beat Romney, Nixon or Percy; but what he doesn't know is if he can beat any of the rest of us. My people believe the President made up all that stuff about an economic crisis just to keep me from running against him in 1968."

"It makes more sense," I said. "than anything I've heard so far."

Record of Setting Hairdos

WASHINGTON — The 90th Congress, reconvening for its second session today, has already chalked up some notable records.

It took one day only to pass an appropriation to buy beauty equipment for the Congresswomen's beauty parlor in the House of Representatives; yet it took 11 months to pass the OEO bill to alleviate the poverty of several million Americans.

The appropriation to buy hair dryers and curlers for the ten Congresswomen was rushed through Congress in the fastest time in history. The money for poor people of the United States was passed in probably the longest time in history.

It took one night for the House of Representatives to pass the Draft Act affecting millions of young men, all because Rep. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina, the alcoholic chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, wanted to rush off to Paris the next day to see the French air show. There was little debate on this vital legislation.

Twenty-one chicken-feed bills dealing with Indian reservations, picaresque land transfers, and Congressional pork were placed ahead of the antipoverty bill when that bill finally was scheduled for House debate.

A bill to solve "crime in the streets" was sidetracked, partly because too many Congressmen figure the solution for crime is to print bumper stickers "Support Your Police" rather than pay policemen adequate salaries.

The rent subsidy bill to help clean up the Negro ghettos was ditched because too many men figure that the solution for the Negro ghettos is to put Stokely Carmichael in jail.

No gun control act was passed four years after the assassination of President Kennedy because a potent gun lobby has put the sale of arms, and private target practice, ahead of safety in the streets.

This was part of the record in the House of Representatives, the Senate did better.

When the President signed the antipoverty authorization over Cam Ranh Bay and the antipoverty appropriations at the ranch as the 453rd and last major bill of the recent Congressional session, it looked like a tipoff that the pace of the Great Society was being slowed to a walk.

"First in war, last in peace," was the word flashed through government circles.

This was further indicated when HEW Secretary John Gardner griped to colleagues, on the plane coming home from the LBJ Ranch, over the way his money for health, education and welfare had been slashed to ribbons.

As Congress convenes, however, it looks as if this tipoff was wrong. The President, in his State of the Union message, is coming back strong with demands that Congress give him legislation to solve crime in the streets, clean up the ghettos, provide aid to dependent children, pass

Alcoholism a Serious Subject

Radio has discovered alcoholism. The broadcasters feature public service announcements, warning us that there are 5,000,000 sick persons in our midst. The sermonettes advise families how to tell the drinker that he is out of control. Others tell how costly he is to industry in absenteeism and accidents.

Alcoholism is a serious subject. Medical science knows no more about it than it does about cancer. No one has ever taken a census of compulsive drinkers, but the count is closer to 3,000,000 than five. A few facts about the illness have been isolated and proved:

(1). The alcoholic never tells the drink when he is going to take it; the drink tells him.

(2). The amount of alcohol imbibed daily has only a casual relationship to the illness.

(3). One of the symptoms is that the victim finds it impossible to admit to himself that his drinking is beyond control. Besides, he will tell you, all he needs is a few days to straighten out.

(4). He lives with a secret, nameless tension but he doesn't know what it is. For him, the clock always points to 3:05 a.m.

(5). He is crass, crude and insolent drunk; he is a whimpering cowardly sobber. He whimpers for love and understanding.

Between 35 and 40 per cent of alcoholics are women. Like the men, they spend their conscious moments wringing their hands and reliving their colossal blunders over and over. The bottle beside them does not represent pleasure; the amber sparkle keeps whispering: "You plus me equals coma."

The most heartless task is to try to expose an alcoholic to himself. It is cruel and pointless, and triggers an additional flight from reality. Nor should the family doctor do it, because GPs, as a rule, have little knowledge of alcoholic diagnosis (except acute) and less about prognosis and therapy.

A psychologist-in-alcoholism or a psychiatrist is the proper person to apply the brakes. Sometimes, it is necessary to goad the drinker into imbibing more and when he is stupefied, sign him into an institution where alcoholic therapy can be started. If the psychologist can win the confidence of the sick person, the work of forcing the drinker to face himself in a mirror becomes easy.

Alcoholics Anonymous is a noble organization and has done much to sober the down-the-drainers. But some men and women drinkers cannot face AA and its insistence that the members start by admitting that they are alcoholics and require assistance. This must be done at a meeting, publicly, and many an ill person has flinched from it.

Taxes And 1968

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania's taxpayers may be in for a break this year — in more ways than one.

Few will dispute the fact that there was little such "break" last year when the Legislature, nudged by Governor Shafer, finally managed to work through a $300 million tax increase program, the full effects of which will be felt this year by Pennsylvania's taxpaying millions.

The picture for 1968 however is much rosier, due primarily to three factors.

In the first place Mr. Shafer himself has said he would ask for no new taxes during 1968. This of course is regarded as an encouraging sign, but as pointed out earlier in this column while the Governor may not publicly ask for new taxes, it does not preclude his quietly and privately suggesting such a tack to his legislative leadership! And after all, it is the Legislature, not the Governor, that enacts any revenue-raising program.

Secondly, if lawmakers were reluctant to go along with the quarter-billion-dollar-plus tax increase program last year (it never finally cleared until ten days before the end of the year) it isn't difficult to imagine their reluctance — or perhaps outright opposition would be more to the point — to back up any tax upswing in this year 1968 when all 203 seats in the House of Representatives and half the seats in the Senate will be up for filling this fall!

Thirdly, and perhaps more intriguing than anything else, the chairmen of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees — both of whom in theory are supposed to be administration stalwarts — have suddenly decided to take the bull by the horns by literally bypassing the Governor's Office for a direct look at departmental expenditures.

What usually has happened in the past insofar as these powerful appropriations committees are concerned is that for the most part they have been content to limit budgetary search and scrutiny of departmental spending requests to the more formal budgetary hearings — after the administration's budget has been presented.

This year however a significant change has been made in the procedure, which it might be added, has raised the hackles of many a department head. Reason is to be found in this excerpt from a joint letter sent to all department heads by Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman George N. Wade:

"In addition to the justifications now prepared (for the Governor's Budget Office), your department should draft a brief resume of all increased expenditures and new requests which gives the bureau or division responsible for their administration, the specific statutory or other authority on which the proposed expenditures or additions rest."

They also asked the department heads to report to them on "what in your department's opinion would be the loss to the public" if the expanded and costly programs were not undertaken and "what other programs can be curtailed or discontinued and whether in the opinion of your department's counsel or the Justice Department, the programs are mandated and the reasons for that opinion."

Interesting part about all this is that heretofore legislative committees have relied almost exclusively on the front office funnel reports for answers to these questions — and then only in a general manner.

This direct approach tack now being assumed by the two committees could mean far greater independence of the legislative branch from reliance as heretofore on the executive branch (as it should have been long ago).

Hard core justification directly to the legislative branch is not only expenditures but also programs themselves, in the end could prove to be one of the greatest "breaks" Pennsylvania's taxpaying brood ever enjoyed.

Steel Orders Up in Hedge Against Possible Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel producers report a current order surge as purchasers step up their buying to hedge against the possibility of a strike next summer, Steel Magazine said Sunday.

The metalworking weekly said the current order surge calls mostly for January, February and March delivery of tonnage, a lot of it a hedge against a possible United Steelworkers' strike after the July 31 deadline.

"In a few instances orders are being placed for shipment as far ahead as third quarter," Steel added.

Prince Sihanouk Uncovers Plot Against Tito

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk confirmed Sunday that he has uncovered a plot against President Tito of Yugoslavia, who will be visiting Cambodia this week.

The prince told newsmen several Cambodians and Chinese had been arrested and that 300 grenades had been seized, along with radio transmission equipment made in the United States.

The prince gave no further details about the alleged plot, except that several tracts printed by Cambodian Communists had been found, calling Tito "a lackey of the Americans." Tito has held Yugoslav communism independent of the Soviet and Chinese varieties.

The prince repeated that he has not given the United States permission to pursue Communist forces across Cambodia's borders and if the United States does so, Cambodia will resist.

Romney's Running Hard In New Hampshire

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — George Romney, behind and running hard, is telling New Hampshire voters that they deserve to see and hear now the Republicans who want their votes in the nation's first presidential primary.

As matters stand, the Michigan governor may have the state's GOP campaign platform to himself until Feb. 3. That is the date tentatively set for the start of a campaign by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, leading in the New Hampshire polls.

By that time, Romney will have spent 10 days marching through the snow, shaking New Hampshire hands, answering questions in the village halls.

He now plans a 22-day campaign for the March 12 primary, but his New Hampshire managers hope that schedule will be expanded.

Romney tells the voters that Earthquake Strikes Area Of Sicily

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — A strong earthquake struck a mountainous area of western Sicily Sunday, toppling numerous buildings in small towns and causing some injuries, police reported.

A violent shock and two subsequent tremors appeared centered southwest of this regional capital in a triangular area formed by the towns of Gibellina, Salaparuta and Poggioreale.

Police said the parish church was reported to have collapsed in Salaparuta and a police station in Poggioreale.

In Gibellina, largest of the three towns with 6,000 inhabitants, officials suspended the municipal council election which was in progress. Some walls collapsed in the town's center.

The government prefecture at Trapani on the western coast dispatched police and firemen to the stricken area, inhabited by about 12,000 persons.

Congress Urged to Cut Income Tax Revenues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican Coordinating Committee urged Sunday that Congress cut federal income-tax revenues to make more money available to state and local tax collectors.

"State and local governments would be in a far better position to support their activities adequately if this federal tax burden did not hit their taxpayers every year like a ton of bricks," the GOP leaders said.

The panel also renewed its proposal that the federal government share a part of its tax collections with the states.

But it recommended a beginning in the federal fiscal year beginning July 1 with further steps when Vietnam war costs have eased.

The GOP leaders proposed that at least part of the state and local taxes paid by an individual be subtracted from the total federal taxes due.

State and local governments then could raise their own income or other taxes to absorb the funds that otherwise would have gone into the federal treasury.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A ♠K ♠Q ♠J ♠10 ♠9 ♠8 ♠7 ♠6 ♠5 ♠4 ♠3 ♠2 ♠1

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ 2 ♣ Pass Pass

Dble. Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trumps. True, partner has promised nothing since you forced him to bid, but possession of four diamonds will no doubt enable you to run the suit and a club lead or the favorable location of the king of spades would give you a ninth trick.

Q. 2—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A ♠J ♠10 ♠9 ♠8 ♠7 ♠6 ♠5 ♠4 ♠3 ♠2 ♠1

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ 2 ♣ Pass Pass

Dble. Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Although West's overall is preemptive, your partner was unable to compete freely and there is no safe course of action available to you. A pass, at least, is apt to produce a small profit.

Q. 3—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A ♠Q ♠J ♠10 ♠9 ♠8 ♠7 ♠6 ♠5 ♠4 ♠3 ♠2 ♠1

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

Pass 1 ♠ Dble. Pass

1 ♠ Dble. ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Your partner is most likely close to being broke since East has announced possession of a very good hand, so square on your shoulders. Since both the ace of clubs and the king of spades appear to be favorably located for your side, a partner requires a little fair distribution or the jack of clubs to make four hearts a virtual laydown.

Q. 4—Your side is vulnerable with an 80 part score, and as South you hold:

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR MONDAY, JANUARY 15, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Effective at once, present a business-like image at all levels. Combine bracing, condensed speech with terse, direct action. Make decisions based on facts, well-versed opinions.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—This day is especially tailored for scientific matters; professional, technical workers; also has enlightening aspects for students, artists. A good period for presenting new ideas.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—A rare day for accomplishing. Curb any desire to skip from one project to another but set your goals and keep working toward them.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Be solicitous of fellow men but not to the point of being "taken in." There are some who would prey upon anyone who will listen.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—A fine planetary period asking top effort from you. Requests can be honored reasonably. Rounded productivity should be your theme.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Pause to appraise offerings. Decide cautiously, but not fearfully, whether you should stand toe-to-toe with competition or to circumvent it by a clever maneuver. Be an optimist.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Knuckle down to realities. Avoid procrastination; lost time is never regained. Also, delay in fulfilling assignments serves to jam up the later hours.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—No "ducking" an issue because it might be distasteful, unimaginative or tiresome. Meet it, handle it, settle it. Then are you the free, reliable person so usual to this vigorous sector.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Review your spending in relation to your income. Make necessary adjustments NOW. Disagree firmly where principles are challenged. Fine opportunities in the office.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Your ruling planet, Saturn, very auspiciously situated. Use your ability to come up with logical answers and this day should be a highly successful one.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Your planetary influences support ably-devised action and imaginative plans. Astute handling of opportunities will be rewarding.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Your fertile mind, backed by resolute will, can engender the momentum essential to achieving success now. In both personal and work issues, emphasize the best traditions of your sign.

YOU BORN TODAY are full of energy and optimism but sometimes bog down when seemingly unappreciated. Though your emotions are strong, once you learn to control them and make them work to your advantage, they can be a powerful asset. Your liking for travel could lead to an unusual occupation and/or pastime. Journalism, literature, science especially attract you.

How to Keep Well

OUR MAILBOX

A dutiful wife writes: "My husband develops an ingrown hair at least once a month. A tiny pimple erupts and he wants me to remove the hair with a tweezer. I'm willing, but what can be done to prevent the hair from growing in this manner?"

Shaving too closely or against the grain may clip off whiskers beneath the surface of the skin. When the blade is dull, more pressure is needed to do a good job. The whiskers may be cut at an angle leading to sharply distorted hairs which curl inward. The result is an ingrowing hair.

Course, curly hair tends to curve back when cut and re-enter the skin. Electric razors are more effective for this type of hair. An alternative is a depilatory similar to those used by women. Another possibility is to grow a beard—a popular accessory among the younger set.

Now and then the cut edge of the hair is rough, so it gets caught by the skin and grows inward. Very little can be done when this happens. On the other hand, men soon learn which shaving method produces trouble. It is not wise to repeatedly shave against the grain in the neck area. Electrolysis is of value when ingrowing hairs are confined to a small area.

An Eastern woman writes: "Can sleep be induced with an electrical current? If so, is it a practical remedy for a person with insomnia?" Devices along this line have been advertised for more than 10 years, but tests in the United States have proved them to be ineffective. These machines produce sleep by delivering an intermittent electrical pulse of very low amperage to the brain. At best, sleep lasts from 30 minutes to 2 hours.

Most research on electrosleep is conducted in laboratories and not in bedrooms. Some scientists believe that in this environment, suggestion or hypnosis plays a role in inducing slumber. Electrical induction of sleep needs further investigation before it can be accepted as a remedy for insomnia.

CARING FOR THE SENILE

N. S. writes: Do you have any suggestions concerning care of an individual who is senile? This person is a close relative and we would like to keep her home.

REPLY: Caring for a senile person is not so difficult when the mental faculties of the older are not impaired. The best policy is to keep the individual busy doing simple tasks or get her interested in a hobby. Oldsters, like everyone else, thrive on love and attention.

TEETH AND HEADACHES

A reader writes: The dentist blames my abnormal bite as the cause of headaches. Is this possible?

REPLY: Yes, When teeth do not come together properly, the head pain stems from abnormal stress on the joint in front of the ear.

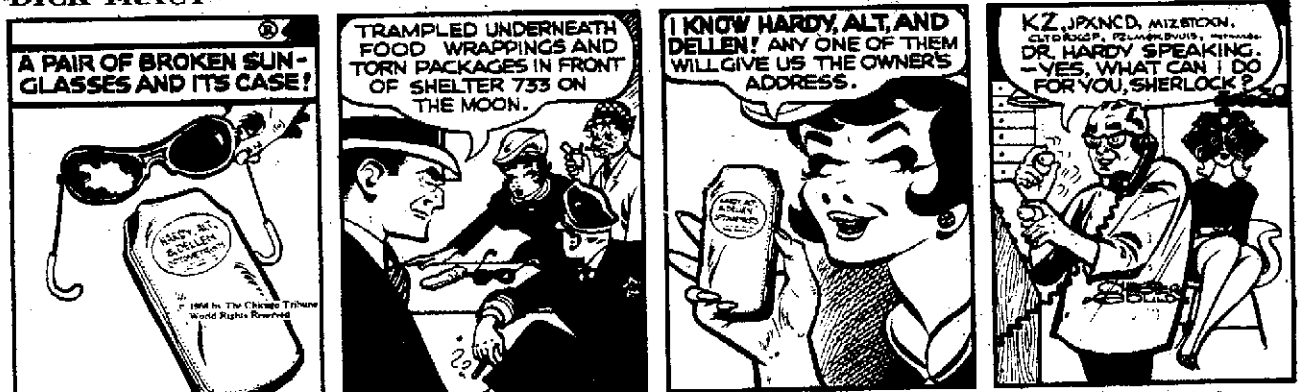

abdominal sensation

Mrs. N. K. writes: Why do I have a jumping sensation in my abdomen since the birth of my son six months ago?

REPLY: Ask your physician to examine the area involved to determine whether the sensation is genuine. Another son may be on the way.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT—Stuffing is fine for the turkey, but not for the figure.

Pott Rallies, Captures Crosby Golf in Playoff

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Johnny Pott climaxed an amazing comeback Sunday by sinking a 25 foot chip shot on the first playoff hole—the 15th—to beat Billy Casper and Bruce Devlin and win the $104,500 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.

Leader after the second and third rounds, Pott faltered Sunday but came back with long birdie putts on two of the final three holes and jam his way into the playoff.

Pott's chip shot gave him a birdie three on the 406-yard 15th hole, first in the playoff and gave him a $16,000 check for his initial tournament victory since 1963.

Casper missed a six-foot birdie try as he and Devlin each had three holes to go. Pott's drive reached the left rough. Billy's second shot ended up six feet from the pin while Devlin was on the front of the green and Pott was 12 feet off.

Devlin hit five feet past the pin, Pott chipped in and then Casper missed.

"I'm very happy," Pott said excitedly. "I couldn't be happier. My partner and I won the pro-am too and you just can't do any better in a tournament."

Pott's winning shot was a downhill gamble that hit the pin bounced two or three times and fell in the cup. If he had missed the ball was headed several feet beyond.

Pott, the leader after both the second and third rounds, nearly collapsed on the front nine as his putter failed him. Then he sank a 40-footer on the 18th and an 18-footer on the 17th to finish with a 73 over the tough Pebble Beach course.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus had 73 for 289.

Arnold Palmer finished early over the 6,747-yard, par 36—72 Seaside course with a 71 and 294 total, well down the list.

Rookie Bob Smith of Sacramento, scored a 67, low round of the tournament, to finish at 292 while first round leader Lou Graham slipped to 77 and 302.

After perfect golf weather for the first three rounds, Sunday dawned with rain but only the early starters felt it and the wind stayed down as the leaders played.

The three-way tie was the first in the history of the Crosby Tournament.

Casper won the Crosby in both 1958 and 1963 and Pott tried for his first tournament title since the 1963 American Golf Classic.

Casper, a two-time Crosby winner, and the Australian Devlin each carded two-under-par 70's.

Deane Beman, the former amateur champion, shot a 70 for fourth place while Ray Floyd, Canadian George Knudson and Bobby Nichols were at even par 288. Floyd and Knudson carded 70 for their final round while Nichols had 72.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus had 73 for 289.

Swiss Skier Giovanoli Wins Slalom

WENGEN, Switzerland (AP) — Dumeng Giovanoli of Switzerland grabbed a narrow victory in the Auberhorn special ski slalom Sunday in treacherous conditions which toppled many of the favorites.

Giovanoli's winning time for the two legs was one minute, 56.10 seconds, which was barely faster than the 1:56:16 it took Norway's Haakon Mjoen to travel the 66-gate course made treacherous by pouring rain and a sharp rise in temperature.

Spider Sabich of Kyburz, Calif., and Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., mastered the slippery, slushy surface better than most of the 100-plus skiers, placing among the top 10.

Sabich was eighth in 1:58.54 and Kidd 10th in 1:58.75.

In the combined results, which included Saturday's downhill race, Kidd placed sixth with 31.24 points and Sabich seventh with 32.23. Austria's Gerhard Nennig, the downhill winner, took the combined title with 4.22 points after finishing fourth in the slalom.

Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., was 38th in the slalom in 2:2.61.

Five Americans—Jim Heuga of Squaw Valley, Calif., Harry Ryan of Rutland, Vt., Dennis McCoy of Bishop, Calif., and Loris Werner and Jere Elliott, both of Steamboat Springs, Colo.—were among 42 skiers who were disqualified after missing gates or falling.

Perhaps the biggest casualty was Jean Claude Killy of France. Killy took what appeared to be an insurmountable lead when he won the first leg by 1.22 seconds.

But while apparently trying to match that performance on the second leg, he caught a slalom pole with the tip of his ski only 22 yards from the finish, lost his balance and fell.

Bitterly disappointed, the 24-year-old customs man skied grimly through the crowd at the finish and went straight back to his hotel without saying a word.

Lawmen Defeat Ike Educators

The Warren Lawmen edged the Eisenhower Schoolmasters, 69-64, in a benefit basketball game at EHS Saturday night.

Bill Sherwood of the Ike teachers took game-high scoring honors with 23 points in a close contest all the way. Ed Lindberg was high for the Lawmen with 17 points and Jack Barnes hit 14.

Tentative future games for the Lawmen include tils against the Sheffield High Academy, the New York State Police, the Erie barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police and a rematch with the Warren Educators.

Results Set In Skiways Trail Races

Thirty-one skiers braved the inclement weather conditions yesterday afternoon to compete in the first weekly Trail Races at the Youngville Skiways.

Because of conditions, the upper trails were judged unsafe for racing and the contest was restricted to a 1000-yard course down "Mainstreet," a lower slope having about 175 yards of vertical drop.

Winners in each class were as follows:

Senior Men (18 and up) — 1. Bob Simpson, 2. Bob Blume, 3. Gary Wolfe.

Senior Women — 1. Judy North, 2. Sandy Donaldson.

Intermediate Boys (13-17) — 1. Mike Vought, 2. Scott Donaldson, 3. Bart Hill.

Intermediate Girls — Jean Schneck, 2. Janice Lundberg, 3. Debbie Blume.

Junior Boys (8-12) — 1. Fletcher Kay, 2. James Donaldson, 3. Scott Blume.

Junior Girls — 1. Kathy Hill, 2. Sonya Donaldson, 3. Kay Dillenker.

Winners received an achievement pin and points toward a trophy to be awarded in each class at the Ski Carnival later this winter.

The Trail Races will be conducted each Sunday at the Youngville Skiways by the Warren County Ski Club. The event is open to all area skiers. The entry fee is 25 cents for club members and 50 cents for non-club members. Registration is held between 12:30 and 2 p.m. every Sunday and races begin promptly at 2:30.

Packers Repeat As World Champs

Bart, Don, Defense Star in 33-14 Rout

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Don Chandler kicked four field goals as Bart Starr led the battle-tested Green Bay Packers to a 33-14 victory over the Oakland Raiders Sunday in the second Super Bowl football game.

A sellout crowd of 75,546 watched in 64-degree temperature at the Orange Bowl while Vince Lombardi's National Football League champions took charge of the underdogs from the American Football League.

Green Bay scored the first three times it had its hands on the ball and rolled over Oakland's eleven angry men just as they had beaten back the challenge of the Kansas City Chiefs last year 35-10 in Los Angeles.

Starr, the man who won the NFL title for the Packers by sneaking home in the final 13 seconds against Dallas on New Year's Eve, did a brilliant job of directing the packer offense.

Although Starr has had better days passing, he was superb during a third period march that was climaxed by Donny Anderson's two-yard touchdown run.

The 82-yard drive that actually put the game beyond reach saw Starr completing a 35-yard pass to Max McGee on a third-and-one situation, hitting Carr. oll Dale for 11 yards on a third-and-nine play and connecting with Anderson for 12 yards on a second-and-10 call.

The Packers' strong defense kept Daryle Lamonica under control most of the afternoon although the Raiders' young quarterback did hit Bill Miller with two touchdown passes.

"They're a great football team," Lombardi said of the Raiders, "and they played well. I'm real grateful. We've got a great bunch of boys, and they played well. They deserve the victory."

In pregame speculation, much had been made of the possibility of George Blanda's kicking swinging the issue to the Raiders, but it was Chandler, the 33-year-old Packer, who did the job.

The former New York Giant place kicker kicked four field goals at distances of 39, 20, 43 and 31 yards while the 40-year-old Blanda missed on one fumble try from the 47.

Starr, who left the game in the fourth period suffering from a jammed thumb, caught Boyd Dowler with a beautifully

Fourth-ranked Kentucky was the only team in the AP Top Ten to lose Saturday. Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats went down before the Florida Gators 96-78 at Gainesville, Fla.

Of the others, third-ranked North Carolina walloped Clemson 115-83, fifth-ranked Tennessee edged Georgia 77-72, sixth-ranked Utah downed Arizona 83-77 in overtime, eighth-ranked Vanderbilt humbled Mississippi 96-70.

Unbeaten New Mexico, No. 9, made it 14 in a row by taking Wyoming 81-65, and 10th-ranked Columbia toyed with Colgate 94-68. Ubeaten St. Bonaventure, No. 7, didn't play.

A sellout 15,151 at Albuquerque saw Ron Nelson, with 30 points, lead New Mexico over Wyoming. "That was our best game of the year," Bob King, New Mexico coach, said afterwards as he received a 1968 sports car from a new car firm.

Perhaps the most exciting game of the weekend was West Virginia's 89-86 overtime victory over Davidson at Morgantown, W. Va. Ron Williams, with 30 points, rallied the Mountaineers from a 17-point deficit to upset the Wildcats.

"What a great effort my boys gave me to come back from 17 points behind against a great team and win," exulted Bucky Waters, West Virginia coach.

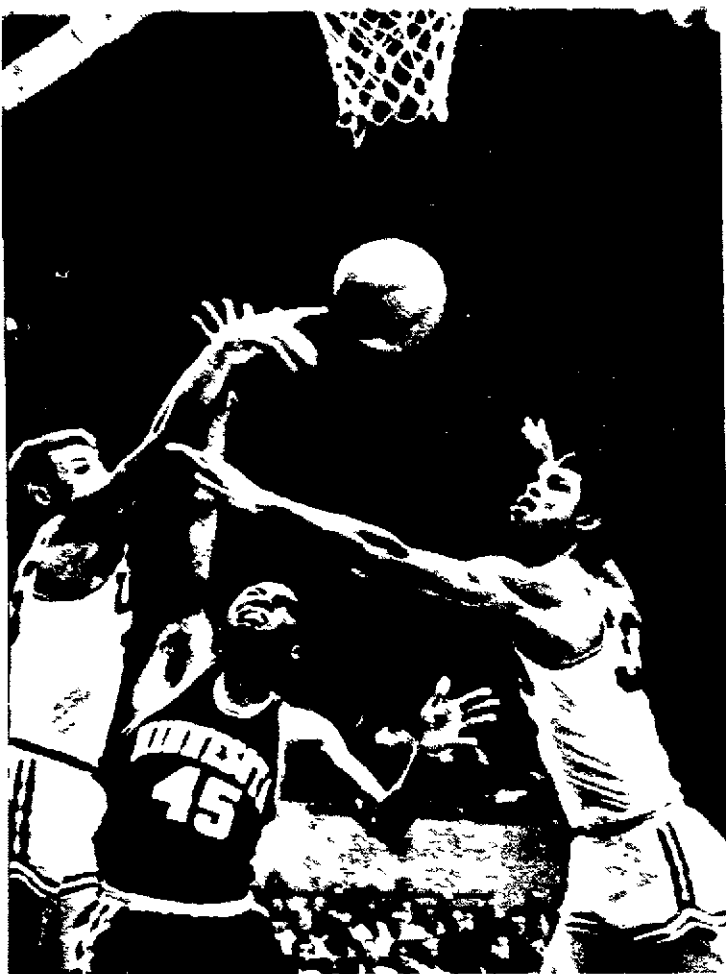

Northwestern edged Indiana 86-81, Illinois took Minnesota 61-60, Bradley nipped Louisville 70-68, Cincinnati took St. Louis 74-68, Arkansas squeaked past Texas 85-80, Oklahoma State upset Colorado 60-59, Tulsa beat North Texas 61-58, San Jose beat U. of Pacific 80-72, and Dartmouth beat Penn 56-54 in overtime.

Canada's Nancy Green Injured

BADGASTEIN, Austria (AP) — Canada's Nancy Greene, holder of the women's Alpine skiing World Cup, suffered a slight fissure on her left ankle bone Sunday while working out for the Silberkrug races.

Erna Floetzeneider, local physician who treated the champion skier, said she felt while training for the downhill races but was able to ski into the valley after the fall. She did not need a cast.

The doctor said Miss Greene would not be able to compete in the races scheduled to start here Wednesday. She added, however, that the World Cup holder would be fit for the Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, next month.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL ROUNDUP:

Lew's Eye Injury Might Hurt Bruins at Houston

A poke in the eye may put a shiner on college basketball's heralded game between UCLA and Houston before a record 50,000 in the Houston Astrodome next Saturday night.

Lew Alcindor, the lowering 7-foot-1½ star of the unbeaten and top-ranked UCLA Bruins, got the accidental jab in the eye against California Friday night while battling for a rebound with the Bears Tom Henderson late in the game.

Alcindor woke up Saturday suffering from blurred vision in both eyes and didn't play against Stanford as his teammates downed the Indians 75-63 for their 46th straight victory.

A doctor at the Stanford clinic described the ailment as an "extremely superficial abrasion" on the surface of the left eyeball. He said Alcindor would be in pain for 24 to 36 hours but likely would be able to play against Houston.

The prospect of a return meeting between Alcindor and 6-8 Elvin Hayes of the second-ranked Houston Cougars in The Associated Press poll has attracted a sellout of 50,000 or more. The exact figure will not be available until Saturday, but an all-time record attendance for a college game is assured.

UCLA beat Houston 73-58 last March in the semifinals of the NCAA national championship tourney at Louisville, Ky. Hayes outscored Alcindor, 25 points to 19 and grabbed 24 rebounds to Lew's 20. UCLA went on to win the national title by beating Dayton in the final.

Houston hasn't been beaten since that loss to UCLA, and the Cougars have been pointing for UCLA ever since.

Counting their victory over North Carolina for third place in the NCAA tourney last March, the Cougars have won 17 in a row. Their latest was a 98-53 home court romp over West Texas State Saturday. Hayes got 31 points and 13 rebounds.

UCLA likely will go into the Houston clash with a record of 47 straight. The Bruins return home to play Portland Thursday night, and the Pilots don't figure to offer stern opposition. They took an 80-37 road thumping from Kansas Saturday night.

Local Boxer Entered in Ohio Gloves

Warren's John Chimenti has been registered with the Lake Erie Amateur Athletic Union and has entered the Golden Gloves Tournament in Ashtabula, Ohio, which will be held on Saturday, January 20th.

Chimenti, 19, started boxing in August 1966 under the direction of Tom Gerardo, well-known former professional light-heavyweight, and Karl Henninger, who has been boxing for about ten years, winning the Fort Knox, Kentucky 125-lbs. championship in 1961 while in the U.S. Army. Henninger has also fought in Warren and Erie.

Chimenti has had only one previous fight; he entered a tournament in McKeesport last March. Even though he lost, he displayed superior boxing skill over his opponent. Lack of experience defensively cost him that fight.

Since last March, Chimenti and Henninger have travelled to Erie on weekends to train with professional fighters Johnny Bizzaro and his brother Lou. Promoter Don Elbaum also looked in and gave his advice during training sessions.

Chimenti has been working out daily at the local Y.M.C.A. with Henninger. Emphasis was placed on defense and counter-punching techniques. These constant workouts with seasoned fighters have improved Chimenti's overall ability 100 per cent. The fights will be held at the Armory on State Road, Ashtabula, Ohio, starting at 8:00 p.m. Chimenti will fight in the 125-lbs. class.

Benvenuti Will Fight Tune Up

Nino Benvenuti of Italy, scheduled to fight Emil Griffith for the world middleweight title for the third time in New York in March, highlights this week's boxing program.

Nino, who was deposed as the middleweight champion by Griffith in their second title bout in New York last September, is slated to meet Charley Austin of Phoenix, Ariz., in a 10-rounder in Rome Friday night.

The bout is regarded as a warmup for Nino for his March return fight with Griffith.

Records Broken in 42nd K of C Games at Boston

BOSTON (AP) — A sleepy football star trying a new distance for the first time and a pair of foreign invaders just getting used to U.S. indoor track conditions headed a list of record breaking performers at the 42nd Knights of Columbus Games at Boston Garden.

Earl McCullouch, a flanker back for Southern California's Rose Bowl champions, streaked to victory in 5.3 seconds in the 45-yard hurdles. This broke the meet record and equalled the indoor standard for the unusual distance set by Charles Hlad in Chicago in 1942, but McCullouch was hardly satisfied.

"I was tired from running the night before in Washington, and I had only about four hours sleep," he said Saturday night. "If I felt a little better tonight, I'm sure I could have broken a record."

Australian Ralph Doubell was making his first try at running on the boards and also his first race at 1,000 yards but the novelty didn't seem to bother him much, either. He stayed just off the pace most of the way then unloaded a spectacular gun lap kick to win in 2:07.7—the fastest time in Boston history.

Then in the always glamorous

GREATEST OF EASE

Chicago Black Hawks star Stan Mikita, wearing a special helmet to protect an ear that required 17 stitches, is in the midst of a swan-like dive as he trips over Boston Bruins goalie Gerry Cheevers in a game played earlier this season. Mikita is among the leading scorers in the National Hockey League.

mile, 21-year-old Swedish student Ulf Hoeberg jumped to the lead at the start and held it all the way to set another meet record of 4:02.3. Villanova's Dave Patrick, who closed well for second place but never threatened the winner, was timed in 4:03.6.

"I thought I had a shot at four minutes when I heard the half mile time of 1:57.6," Hoeberg said, "but I slowed down in the third quarter and lost my chance."

Pole vaulter Vince Bizzarro provided another record smashing performance at the end of the night when he cleared the bar at 16.7½, defeating indoor recordholder Bob Seagren, who bowed out at that height.

"I really got the arm into that one," the happy 21-year-old Villanova student said of the vault which set a Boston record and bettered his own personal high by 7½ inches.

Other meet record breakers included Eamon O'Reilly of Oakland, Calif., in the two-mile with a new personal low time of 8:41; George Frenn of Pasadena, A.A., with a 68-11 toss of the 35-pound weight, and Villanova in the college varsity mile relay with a clocking of 3:17.

Other winners were Ed Caruthers of the Pacific Coast Club in the high jump with 7 feet; high school senior Billy Gaines of Santa Clara, Calif., in the 50-yard dash with 5.3; Martin McGrady of Santa Clara, Calif., in the 600 with 1:10.2; Jim Kemp of the Army's Pacific Coast Club in the 400 with 48.6.

Arch Kenney of Northeastern in the shot put with 52-11, and Dan Burke, unattached, in the broad jump with 22.4.

Grid Game Sought By Falconer High

Falconer, N.Y. High School has a football date open for the 1968 season, the weekend of November 8-9, and would consider scheduling a team from this area.

Anyone interested is urged to contact Athletic Director Nick Fedorka, Falconer.

FROM SUNNY SARASOTA, FLORIDA, comes word that Mr. and Mrs. Donald Y. Fellman and daughter, Cathy, of 101 Main street, Russell, were among visitors to the state-owned Ringling Museums while vacationing on Florida's lower West Coast. The entire Ringling complex is comprised of a Museum of Art; Asolo Theater; Ringling Residence and the Museum of the Circus. The latter is the first museum dedicated to the history of the circus. Ca'D'Zan (the name of the Ringling residence) is a sumptuous Gothic Venetian palace of John and Mable Ringling and looks like a famous and beautiful palazzo one would expect to see in Venice, Italy.

FRANCE, UNDAUNTED, STILL KEEPS TRYING in spite of the urging of our President "Americans stay home." From Chamonix-Mont Blanc, France, comes information that this most historic ski area is to host one of Europe's oldest and most venerable ski competitions, the Ariberg-Kandahar, which takes place right after the Winter Olympics. And, Chamonix is offering an attractive "ski-hotel" vacation package between January 4th and April 30th—it can cost as little as $64 for 7 days in a wide choice of hotels with half-board, and all kinds of other inducements to lure, principally, the sports-minded young Americans to the French Alps, with free ski lessons thrown in! Somebody over there must like us.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me why normally intelligent people seem to take leave of their senses at Christmas time? I refer to those individuals who sit down and compose interminable chronicles of the year's activities, have them mimeographed (usually a poor job) and proceed to send the drivel to everyone whose last name they can spell.

Isn't this the height of egocentricity? What makes these people think anyone (save a special few) are interested in wading through all that stuff?

For several years we have been receiving family newsletters and I've had it up to here. I guess what really galls me is the way everyone tries to paint such a glowing picture of affluence and success. I have before me a fistful of chatty little Christmas letters. I'm going to lift a few sentences from each to illustrate the point. (The names of persons and organizations have been changed for obvious reasons):

"Dear Friends: What a wonderful year we have had! Jim was named Vice President of the bank so we celebrated by buying a Mercedes and taking a trip to the Orient. In addition to his Boy Scout work, Jim served as Chairman of the United Fund Drive. He is still on the Hospital Board and President of Kiwanis. Just for laughs he played the lead in the Little Theater production last June and everyone said he was better than the star who did it on Broadway. His first love, however, is still Conservation and he continues to work hard as chairman of the Committee to fight Dutch Elm disease.

"After completing my term as Junior League president I swore I would take life easy but it seems I am more involved than ever. I accepted the Vice Presidency of the Garden Club and am still active in the D.A.R. Our church organist became ill and they asked me to substitute so I accepted. I ran the rummage sale for the Eastern Star again this year and managed to take a course in flower-arranging which was offered by a Japanese exchange student.

"Jim Jr. was elected class president and won his letters in football and basketball. He is on the All-State debate team and placed third in the national oratory contest last May. We were surprised when we read in the paper that he had won a $100 prize in an essay contest sponsored by the American Legion. We didn't even know he had entered! He has already been accepted by Harvard!" And so it goes—until you could up-chuck.

Next year, Ann Landers, I am going to send a newsletter to all the people who have been sending US newsletters. It will read something like this and I hope they get the hint:

Dear Friends: We had a perfectly rotten year. Hal was passed over for promotion again so he got mad and quit. He hasn't lined up a new job as yet but he has his name in at two agencies and he looks in the papers every day.

Hal Jr. was defeated for homeroom monitor. He flunked French and will have to go to summer school. Billy has not had a haircut since August and had to hock his guitar to pay for repairing his Honda which he wrecked. My mother-in-law's annual two-week visit in May turned into two months, and my migraines got so bad I had to go back into therapy.

As I write this, the whole family is down with the flu and I don't feel so good myself. We hope next year is better. It couldn't be much worse. Love to all.—MARY

Annual YW Meeting Scheduled

The Warren Young Women's Christian Association will hold its 54th annual meeting on Monday, January 22nd, at 6:30 o'clock in the Alice Wetmore Room of the Activities Building. Members and guests will assemble for a catered dinner, a brief business meeting, and a program of excellence. Reservations for the dinner must be made no later than Thursday, January 18th, by calling the YWCA office at 723-6350.

The theme for the 1968 annual meeting is "Today more than ever—the YWCA," and the speaker for this climactic event in the year's program will be the Rev. R. Lee Mull, assistant pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Warren, who will use as his topic of challenge for the beginning of a new year: "Vision—or Perish." Pastor Mull is recognized as a dynamic and inspirational speaker, and the Warren Association is hopeful that many persons, both men and women, will take advantage of this opportunity to hear an outstanding program.

During the business session Mrs. Norman A. Johnson, chairman of the 1968 nominating committee, will present the following slate of candidates for election to the board of directors: for a second 3-year term, Mrs. Merle B. Mitcham and Mrs. Arnold E. Whren. As new members of the board, the committee will present the following names: Mrs. Thomas F. Brown, Mrs. Eugene O'Neill and Mrs. Charles W. Cable. Those women whose names will be presented as nominees for the 1968 nominating committee include Mrs. James C. Miller, Mrs. Norman A. Johnson, holdovers from the 1967 committee, with new members Miss Joyce Anderg, Mrs. Kenneth Middaugh and Mrs. Ralph E. VanOrd.

This evening, members of First Lutheran Church attending the Annual Congregational Dinner and Meeting, will be privileged to meet this charming Japanese student, Miss Yoko Matsuyama. Miss Matsuyama, pictured here with her American parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ray of Erie, will accompany the Rev. Edward Mertz who will present a koto-chrome slide lecture on "Life at Thiel." The Japanese student is majoring in history at Thiel College, Greenville. "Yoko" is known to members of First Lutheran Church, Warren, because of the Rev. Walter W. Mattson family, missionaries in Japan since 1953, whom the local church assists with support. She was baptized by Pastor Mattson when she was seven years old, and Yoko and her mother lived in the Mattson home from the time of her second school year until her high school days.

MRS. JOHN H. WOOSTER (Berkshire Studio)

Prior to the address of the evening Miss Carolyn Schaefer, Y-Teen director, will present a group of Y-Teen members in a choral reading with dance interpretation on the theme: "A Christian Movement Open to the World."

A Dedication Service for members of the 1968 board of directors and nominating committee will complete the evening, arrangements for which have been made by Mrs. Merle B. Mitcham, chairman, assisted by Mrs. James C. Miller, Mrs. Robert R. Whitehill, Mrs. Nelson A. Johnson, Mrs. Alan H. Buerkle and Mrs. George O'Dea, with Mrs. Donald H. Spencer, president, and Mrs. Evin N. Branch, executive director, as ex-officio members of the committee.

Best man was Gary Ferguson, brother of the groom, from Jamestown, N.Y. and the usher was Harold Johnson of Jamestown. The ringbearer, Phillip Farone, cousin of the bride, from Tionesta, carried the rings on a heart-shaped white satin pillow.

The mother of the bride wore an olive green knit dress with a beige coat trimmed in olive green with matching accessories. Her corsage was white carnations tipped with pink. The mother of the groom wore a jacket dress of navy blue with matching accessories. She also had white carnations tipped with pink.

The sixty wedding guests attended the wedding reception at Scotty's Restaurant in Leeper, Penna., after the ceremony. The three layer white wedding cake was trimmed with blue flowers. Mrs. Lester Avery, aunt of the bride, cut the cake.

For traveling to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a turquoise jacket dress with a corsage of white carnations tipped with pink.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white velvet floor length gown in an A-line silhouette. A narrow ribbon, forming a dainty bow at the back with streamers, defined the highrised waistline. The bodice had a bateau neckline and three-quarter sleeves edged in a flared cuff overlaid with Venetian lace. Her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a wreath of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of white baby mums centered with deep pink rosebuds and tied with pink streamers.

Suzanne Avery, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor in peacock velvet and light blue crepe chiffon with a Dior bow headress of peacock velvet securing a butterfly veil. Her bouquet was similar to that of the bride. Also carrying the same kind of flowers was the bridesmaid, Miss Cheryl Avery, sister of the bride, who was dressed identically to the honor attendant. The flower girl, Mistress Sue Farone, a cousin of the bride, from Tionesta, wore a bright pink floor length velvet frock and carried a small bouquet of white mums.

Pastor Mattson is a graduate of Thiel College and Thiel was chosen as Yoko's school when it became certain that the Japanese girl could go to the United States to study. Churches of the Western Pennsylvania-West Virginia Synod, including First Lutheran Church of Warren, have assisted financially, and Thiel College has helped her with a scholarship. Yoko's home, while she is spending four years at Thiel, is with the Erie family, the sister and brother-in-law of Pastor Mattson. The annual meeting of First Lutheran Church gets under way at 6:15 Monday evening in Fellowship Hall. It will be a privilege to hear Mr. Mertz speak on "Life at Thiel," and a pleasure to personally meet Miss Yoko Matsuyama.

Kaczka-Wooster Nuptials Are Held In Adams, Mass.

Miss Beverly A. Kaczka and John H. Wooster were married in Adams, Massachusetts, on Saturday, January 13, in the St. Stanislaus Kostka Church. The Rev. Father John C. Chwalek, pastor, officiated in the presence of one hundred guests. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil S. Kaczka of 15 Mill street, Adams, Mass., and the groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wooster of Warren.

Altar decorations included arrangements of red poinsettias. Music for the double ring ceremony was played by organist, John A. Sumaj.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in a gown designed and fashioned by her mother. Styled in long flowing coat dresslines, the velvet gown had long sleeves and high collared neck line. A cape of silver brocade trimmed with velvet fell in regal folds from the shoulders of the gown. Silver brocade contrasts were also used on the gown and she wore silver shoes. Her bouffant veil was secured by a cone shaped headpiece of silver and satin brocade and she carried a crescent bouquet of miniature white carnations with silver sparkles and sparkled ivy.

The maid of honor, Miss Patricia Kaczka, sister of the bride, was in a metallic silver and white striped ensemble with which she wore a head bow securing a two tier veil matching her gown. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Joanne Kaczka Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Becky Wooster, sister of the groom, Miss Kathleen Schilling, all wore ingowns of metallic green-blue and silver with matching headbands and veils. The honor attendant carried a hand bouquet.

A book wagon traveling library was started in Hagers-town, Md. in 1905. This is believed to be the first one in the United States.

Miller, Mrs. Robert R. Whitehill, Mrs. Nelson A. Johnson, Mrs. Alan H. Buerkle and Mrs. George O'Dea, with Mrs. Donald H. Spencer, president, and Mrs. Evin N. Last November, League members visited Borough Council to present its consensus on Area Development reached by the membership at its October unit meetings. The consensus previously publicized by the newspaper and radio states the local League's support of strict enforcement of the housing codes adopted by Borough Council in May 1967, also support for adequate funds for staffing such a program. The League wishes to encourage the construction of low-cost and medium-cost housing, both public and private and supports the continuance of the various Planning Commissions.

All interested women of the area are invited to attend League meetings. Duplicate unit meetings will be held on Tuesday evening at 8:00 and Thursday morning at 9:30 at the YWCA. Discussion leader on Tuesday evening will be Mrs. David A. Smith. Mrs. James Potter will lead the Thursday morning discussion. Baby sister service available Thursday morning.

Members of the 1968 board of directors and nominating committee will complete the evening, arrangements for which have been made by Mrs. Merle B. Mitcham, chairman, assisted by Mrs. James C. Miller, Mrs. Robert R. Whitehill, Mrs. Nelson A. Johnson, Mrs. Alan H. Buerkle and Mrs. George O'Dea, with Mrs. Donald H. Spencer, president, and Mrs. Evin N. Branch, executive director, as ex-officio members of the committee.

Best man was Gary Ferguson, brother of the groom, from Jamestown, N.Y. and the usher was Harold Johnson of Jamestown. The ringbearer, Phillip Farone, cousin of the bride, from Tionesta, carried the rings on a heart-shaped white satin pillow.

The mother of the bride wore an olive green knit dress with a beige coat trimmed in olive green with matching accessories. Her corsage was white carnations tipped with pink. The mother of the groom wore a jacket dress of navy blue with matching accessories. She also had white carnations tipped with pink.

The sixty wedding guests attended the wedding reception at Scotty's Restaurant in Leeper, Penna., after the ceremony. The three layer white wedding cake was trimmed with blue flowers. Mrs. Lester Avery, aunt of the bride, cut the cake.

For traveling to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a turquoise jacket dress with a corsage of white carnations tipped with pink.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white velvet floor length gown in an A-line silhouette. A narrow ribbon, forming a dainty bow at the back with streamers, defined the highrised waistline. The bodice had a bateau neckline and three-quarter sleeves edged in a flared cuff overlaid with Venetian lace. Her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a wreath of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of white baby mums centered with deep pink rosebuds and tied with pink streamers.

Suzanne Avery, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor in peacock velvet and light blue crepe chiffon with a Dior bow headress of peacock velvet securing a butterfly veil. Her bouquet was similar to that of the bride. Also carrying the same kind of flowers was the bridesmaid, Miss Cheryl Avery, sister of the bride, who was dressed identically to the honor attendant. The flower girl, Mistress Sue Farone, a cousin of the bride, from Tionesta, wore a bright pink floor length velvet frock and carried a small bouquet of white mums.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Important Improvements
In Medicare Program

By LEWIS EPSTEIN
(Sixth in a series)
Here are some of the more important improvements in the medicare program under the social security amendments signed by President Johnson on January 2.

PAYMENT FOR DOCTOR BILLS
Medicare beneficiaries whose physicians prefer to bill them directly instead of billing medicare will no longer have to pay the bill and get it receipted before they can collect medicare payments.

Under the old law, if the doctor did not want to submit his bill to medicare, a medicare beneficiary had to pay the bill and get it itemized and receipted in order to claim payment from medicare. Now, beginning January 1, 1968, all the patient needs to send in with his request for payment is an itemized bill, even if he has not yet paid the doctor. If the doctor's office will fill out the bottom part of the standard Request for Payment form, this will serve as the itemized bill.

MORE HOSPITAL DAYS COVERED

Beginning January 1, a person covered under the hospital insurance part of medicare will be eligible for 60 additional days of care partly paid for by medicare. This is a "lifetime reserve" that you can draw upon if you have used up to the 90 days in a "spell of illness." During these additional days, your medicare will pay all but $20 a day of your covered hospital expenses.

As before, a "spell of illness" does not end until a 60-day period has passed during which you were not a patient in any hospital or skilled nursing home. When a spell of illness ends, you again become eligible for up to 90 days of hospital insurance benefits. The 60-day reserve, however, is a lifetime reserve, and none of it is replaced after you use it.

SERVICES IN NON-COVERED HOSPITALS

Also, the medicare program may now make partial payment of bills for treatment before January 1, 1968, in hospitals not participating in the medicare program. If you had to pay a hospital bill because you were treated in such a hospital, it may be possible for you to be reimbursed, if the hospital meets certain minimum standards, i.e., it is licensed as a hospital; has a full-time nursing service; and provides medical care under the supervision of a doctor.

During the first year of medicare some hospitals were not able to take part in the medicare program, and others have not chosen to take part, for one reason or another. A special provision for payment in emergency cases helped many people, but there were some hospitals which did not qualify even under the emergency provisions. And some people covered by medicare and admitted to these hospitals when there was no medical emergency provision mistakenly believed that medicare would pay their bills.

If you were a medicare beneficiary between July 1, 1966, and December 31, 1967, and could not earlier get payment under medicare for a stay in a hospital that did not take part in medicare, ask the hospital or your social security office to help you apply for benefits.

MORE BILLS PAID IN HOSPITALS
Starting January 1, 1968, the medical insurance part of medicare will pay the full reasonable charges of radiologists' and pathologists' services while you are a hospital inpatient, if you are enrolled for medical insurance. Under the old law, medicare paid only 80 per cent of the charges after $50 deductible had been met.

Under the old law, if you were in a hospital or extended care facility and were not eligible for hospital insurance payments—because you had used up all your hospital insurance benefit days, or because you did not enter the extended care facility within 14 days after a hospital stay of at least 3 days—services such as X-rays and laboratory services were not covered by either hospital or medical insurance.

As of April 1, medical insurance will cover such services if you are in a hospital or extended care facility. These services would ordinarily have been paid for as part of your doctor's bills if you had not been in the institution.
